Re: Certain Soft Projectile Launching Devices, Components Thereof, Ammunition, and Products Containing Same; Inv. No. 337-TA-__

Dear Secretary Barton:

In accordance with 19 C.F.R. §§ 201.6(b) and 210.5, Complainants Hasbro, Inc. (“Hasbro”) and Spin Master, Inc. (“Spin Master”) (collectively, “Complainants”) respectfully request confidential treatment of the business information contained in Confidential Exhibits 5, 6, 9A-9B, and 10A-10B to the Verified Complaint.

The information in these documents is proprietary commercial information not otherwise publicly available. Specifically, the Verified Complaint contains confidential details regarding Hasbro’s internal product development and business plans; Confidential Exhibits 5 and 6 contain detailed confidential information regarding Hasbro’s business plans and its financial investments, expenditures, and licensing of the asserted patents; and Confidential Exhibits 9A-9B and 10A-10B contain confidential technical details of the design of Hasbro’s domestic industry products, as well as related product literature, which are not public as of the date of this letter.

The information described above qualifies as confidential business information pursuant to 19 C.F.R. § 201.6(a) because:

1. It is not publicly available;
2. The unauthorized disclosure of such information could cause substantial harm to the competitive position of Complainants;
3. The disclosure of such information could impair the Commission’s ability to obtain information necessary to perform its statutory function.

Please contact me if you have any questions about this request, or if this request is not granted in full.

Respectfully submitted,

Brian Boyd

Inv. No. 337-TA-_____

COMPLAINANTS' STATEMENT REGARDING THE PUBLIC INTEREST

In support of their Complaint entitled Certain Soft Projectile Launching Devices, Components Thereof, Ammunition, and Products Containing Same, Complaints Hasbro, Inc. ("Hasbro") and Spin Master, Inc. ("Spin Master") (collectively, "Complainants") respectfully submit this statement regarding the public interest, as required by Commission Rule 210.8(b).

This proceeding concerns the importation, sale for importation, and/or sale after importation into the United States of certain soft projectile launching devices, components thereof, ammunition, and products containing same that infringe United States Patent Nos. 8,640,683 and 8,371,282 (collectively, the "Asserted Patents"). Specifically, Complainants seek a permanent limited exclusion order, pursuant to Section 337(d), excluding from entry into the United States the proposed respondents'¹ accused products (identified in the Complaint) that infringe one or more claims of the Asserted Patents. Complainants also seek permanent cease and desist orders covering the accused products and a bond upon respondents' importation of infringing products during the presidential review period.

Issuance of the requested remedial orders will provide relief in the face of widespread and ongoing importation into the United States, sale for importation, and sale within the United States after importation of products that infringe the Asserted Patents. In this case, the requested remedial orders would not have an adverse effect on the public health and welfare, competitive conditions in the United States economy, the production of like or directly competitive articles in the United States, or United States consumers. Protecting Complainants' intellectual property rights and domestic industry through the requested remedial orders will serve the public interest while having little or no adverse effect on the public interest.

I. THE REQUESTED REMEDIAL ORDERS ARE IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST

The Commission has long recognized the strong public interest in enforcing intellectual property rights. See Certain Baseband Processor Chips and Chipsets, Transmitter and Receiver (Radio) Chips, Power Control Chips, and Products Containing Same, Including Cellular Telephone Handsets, Inv. No. 337-TA-543, USITC Pub. 4258, at 136-37 (Oct. 2011). In this case, the requested remedial orders are in the public interest for the following reasons: (1) exclusion of the accused products will not have an adverse effect on the public health or welfare; (2) the requested remedial orders will not result in any void in the market; and (3) the requested remedial orders will not adversely affect United States consumers.

(1) Explanation of how the articles potentially subject to the orders are used in the United States

The accused products are generally projectile launching devices, i.e., "blasters" that are designed to launch soft, spherical ammunition made from hydrated super absorbent polymers (SAP). They are used for recreation and entertainment purposes, by users who use the projectile launchers to launch the ammunition at a target. The ammunition is soft and is designed to break apart upon impact. The accused products are manufactured outside the United States, imported into the United States, and sold within the United States after importation via various outlets including online retailers and wholesalers.

(2) Identification of any public health, safety, or welfare concerns relating to the requested remedial orders

There are no health, safety, or welfare concerns at issue in this Investigation. The accused products are not used to treat any medical condition as in Certain Fluidized Supporting Apparatus and Components Thereof, Inv. No. 337-TA-182/188 (specialized hospital beds for burn patients), nor are they used to improve an important national health, safety or welfare interest as in Certain Inclined Field Acceleration Tubes, Inv. No. 337-TA-67 (basic atomic research) or Certain Automatic Crankpin Grinders, Inv. No. 337-TA-60 (fuel economy standards). In general, potential concerns about a proposed remedy having a negative impact on public health, safety, or welfare have arisen in investigations involving pharmaceuticals, medical equipment, or green technology products, such as hybrid cars or solar panels. The accused products recommended for exclusion are intended for recreation and entertainment purposes, and their exclusion does not implicate public health, safety, or welfare concerns.

(3) Identification of like or directly competitive articles that Complainants, their licensees, or third parties make that would replace the subject articles if they were to be excluded

Hasbro will manufacture and distribute like and directly competitive models of soft projectile launching devices and ammunition, including its NERF “Pro GelFire” blasters that are designed to launch hydrated SAP ammunition. As detailed in the Complaint and supporting documents thereto, preorders for the NERF Pro GelFire Mythic Blaster began in July 2022, and Hasbro plans for the products to be available on shelves by November 2022. Thus, even if the accused products at issue in this investigation were excluded, consumers would still have products from which to choose.

(4) Indication of whether the Complainants, their licensees, or third parties have the capacity to replace the volume of articles subject to the recommended remedial orders in a commercially reasonable time in the United States

Hasbro has the capacity to replace the proposed respondents' U.S. sales of soft projectile launching devices and ammunition in a commercially reasonable time. Hasbro is a well-known global play and entertainment company with established supply chains and a long history of manufacturing "blaster" products at scale. If the Accused Products were excluded from the United States, Hasbro would have the capacity to replace their volume of accused products to the U.S. market within a commercially reasonable time.

(5) How the requested remedial orders would impact consumers

As explained above, exclusion of the proposed respondents' soft projectile launching devices and ammunition, whether by limited exclusion order and/or cease and desist order, would not adversely affect consumers in the United States in view of Hasbro's sales of NERF "Pro GelFire" products within the United States. Accordingly, there will be minimal, if any, impact to the public interest by the exclusion of the proposed respondents' infringing products.

II. CONCLUSION

If the Commission grants the requested remedial orders, the public interest will be served. The accused products are not necessary to any health or welfare need, and an adequate supply of substitute devices will be available through Hasbro Inc. As such, the strong public interest in protecting Complainants' valid intellectual property rights outweighs any potential adverse impact on the public interest.

III. TECHNOLOGY AND PRODUCTS AT ISSUE

26. Pursuant to Commission Rule 210.10(b)(1) & 210.12(a)(12), the Accused Products are projectile launchers designed to launch ammunition made of a hydrated super absorbent polymer (SAP) material, components of such projectile launchers, SAP ammunition for use in connection with such projectile launchers, and products containing same (such as kits with the projectile launchers, ammunition, and other accessories such as goggles). These Accused Products, without permission, implement Complainants’ technologies as described and claimed in the Asserted Patents.

27. As described below with respect the Asserted Patents, the patented technology at issue generally relates to projectile launching devices (e.g., “blasters” used for recreation and entertainment purposes) that are designed to launch soft, spherical ammunition made from hydrated super absorbent polymer (SAP) materials. SAPs are polymers that can absorb an extremely large amount of water relative to their own mass. According to the Asserted Patents, properly designed SAPs are more suitable ammunition in projectile launching devices and have many advantages as compared to projectiles for gaming projectile launching devices that were previously known, such as paint balls, plastics, and foams.

IV. THE ASSERTED PATENTS AND NON-TECHNICAL DESCRIPTIONS³

A. U.S. Patent No. 8,371,282

1. Identification of the Patent and Ownership

28. U.S. Patent No. 8,371,282 (“the ’282 patent”) is entitled “Soft-Projectile Launching Device.” The named inventors of the ’282 patent are Keith G. Meggs, Ronald Brawer, Michael G. Hoeting, and Neil Hamilton. The ’282 patent duly and legally issued on February 12, 2013. The ’282 patent issued from and has priority to U.S. Patent Application Serial No. 12/777,134, filed on May 10, 2010. Pursuant to Commission Rule 210.12(a)(9)(i), a certified copy of the ’282 patent is attached as Exhibit 1. Pursuant to Commission Rule 210.12(a)(9)(xi), Complainants state that the ’282 patent will expire July 13, 2030. The ’282 patent is directed to a device for projecting a soft-projectile made from a super absorbent polymer.

29. Spin Master, Inc. is the current valid assignee of the ’282 patent. Pursuant to Commission Rule 210.12(a)(9)(ii), Exhibit 3 contains a certified copy of each assignment of the ’282 patent. Pursuant to Commission Rule 210.12(a)(9)(iv), Complainants state that Hasbro,

³ The contents of this Complaint, including the non-technical descriptions of the Asserted Patents are presented to give general backgrounds of the inventions. Such statements are not intended to be used, nor should be used, for purposes of patent claim interpretation. Complainants present these statements subject to, and without waiver of, its right to argue that claim terms should be construed in a particular way, as contemplated by claim interpretation jurisprudence and the relevant evidence.

Inc. is the exclusive licensee of the '282 patent and a copy of the license agreement is Confidential Exhibit 5.

30. Pursuant to Commission Rule 210.12(c), a certified copy of the prosecution history of the '282 patent is submitted herewith as Appendix A. Copies of each technical reference mentioned in the prosecution history of the '282 patent are submitted herewith as Appendix C.

2. Non-Technical Description of the Patented Invention

31. Pursuant to Commission Rule 210.12(a)(9)(vi), the '282 patent is generally directed to ammunition for a projectile launching device that is made from hydrated super absorbent polymers (SAP). SAPs are polymers that can absorb an extremely large amount of water relative to their own mass. The '282 patent describes that properly designed SAPs would be a more suitable ammunition in projectile launching devices (e.g., to improve conventional NERF® “blasters” as discussed in the patent) and had many advantages as compared to projectiles for gaming projectile launching devices that were previously known, such as paint balls, plastics, and foams.

32. As one example, the '282 patent describes the safety benefits of SAP ammunition as compared to paint balls and plastics (e.g., as found in “airsoft” guns). For example, the '282 patent describes that certain SAP projectiles had beneficial characteristics for use in a projectile launcher used for gaming, in part because SAPs break down at different pressures based on their composition. In one claimed improvement, hydrated SAP projectiles have sufficient cross-linking density such that they are projected from a projectile launching device without breaking apart. At the same time, because hydrated SAP projectiles rupture when subjected to excessive pressure—such as when impacting a target after being launched from a projectile launcher—the force at impact is spread over a much wider surface area, thus reducing the likelihood of injury when the target is a person. See, e.g., Exhibit 1 at 3:45-4:17.

33. The '282 patent is related to the asserted divisional '683 patent discussed below.

3. Foreign Counterparts to the '282 Patent

34. Pursuant to Commission Rule 210.12(a)(9)(v), the following table lists all foreign counterpart patents and applications for the '282 patent that have been filed, issued, abandoned, or withdrawn:

B. U.S. Patent No. 8,640,683

1. Identification of the Patent and Ownership

36. U.S. Patent No. 8,640,683 ("the '683 patent") is entitled "Soft-Projectile Launching Device." The named inventors of the '683 patent are Keith G. Meggs, Ronald Brawer, Michael G. Hoeting, and Neil Hamilton. The '683 patent duly and legally issued on February 4, 2014. The '683 patent issued from U.S. Patent Application Serial No. 13/761,082 and claims priority to U.S. Patent Application Serial No. 12/777,134, filed on May 10, 2010. Pursuant to Commission Rule 210.12(a)(9)(i), a certified copy of the '683 patent is attached as Exhibit 2. Pursuant to Commission Rule 210.12(a)(9)(xi), Complainants state that the '683 patent will expire May 10, 2030. The '683 patent is directed to a device for projecting a soft-projectile made from a super absorbent polymer.

[REDACTED]

37. Spin Master, Inc. is the current valid assignee of the '683 patent. Pursuant to Commission Rule 210.12(a)(9)(ii), Exhibits 4 & 3A-3E (parent) contain a certified copy of each assignment of the '683 patent. Pursuant to Commission Rule 210.12(a)(9)(iv), Complainants state that Hasbro, Inc. is the exclusive licensee of the '683 patent and a copy of the license agreement is Confidential Exhibit 5.

38. Pursuant to Commission Rule 210.12(c), a certified copy of the prosecution history of the '683 patent is submitted herewith as Appendix B. Copies of each technical reference mentioned in the prosecution history of the '683 patent are submitted herewith as Appendix D.

2. Non-Technical Description of the Patented Invention

39. Pursuant to Commission Rule 210.12(a)(9)(vi), the '683 patent is generally directed to a projectile launching system including ammunition made from a hydrated super absorbent polymer (SAP).

40. The '683 patent is a division of the application that led to the issued '282 patent described above and shares the same specification as the '282 patent described above.

41. As noted in the '282 patent description above, SAPs are polymers that can absorb an extremely large amount of water relative to their own mass. The '683 patent describes that SAPs would be a more suitable ammunition in projectile launching devices (e.g., to improve conventional NERF® “blasters” as discussed in the patent) and had many advantages as compared to projectiles for gaming projectile launching devices that were previously known, such as paint balls, plastics, and foams.

42. As one example, the '683 patent describes the safety benefits of SAP ammunition as compared to paint balls and plastics (e.g., as found in “airsoft” guns). For example, the '683 patent describes that certain SAP projectiles had beneficial characteristics for use in a projectile launcher used for gaming, in part because SAPs break down at different pressures based on their composition. In one claimed improvement, hydrated SAP projectiles have sufficient cross-linking density such that they are projected from a projectile launching device without breaking apart. At the same time, because hydrated SAP projectiles rupture when subjected to excessive pressure—such as when impacting a target after being launched from a projectile launcher—the force at impact is spread over a much wider surface area, thus reducing the likelihood of injury when the target is a person. See, e.g., Exhibit 2 at 3:54-4:27.

3. Foreign Counterparts to the '683 Patent

B. Indirect Infringement

1. The Gel Blaster Respondents

87. On information and belief, the Gel Blaster Respondents contribute to and induce direct infringement by others, including their customers, such as retailers and end users under 35 U.S.C. § 271(b)-(c) without license or authority. The Gel Blaster Respondents induce and contribute to customers’ directly infringing acts, including those customers’ sales, use, and offers for sale of articles that are covered by the Asserted Patents. For example, on information and belief, retailers such as Target and Walmart, offer Gel Blaster Accused Products (including the Gel Blaster Surge and Gel Blaster Starfire) for sale in retail stores in the United States and on websites accessible from within the United States. Exhibits 34, 35. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=xvWieAO8A54&t=324s> (showing same reviewer at Fiery Crab Seafood Restaurant & Bar, which has locations in Louisiana and South Carolina).

88. On information and belief, the Gel Blaster Respondents had, and have, knowledge of the Asserted Patents. For example, the Gel Blaster Respondents have knowledge of the Asserted Patents and their infringement thereof as a result of the filing and/or service of this Complaint. Additionally, before the filing of this Complaint, the Gel Blaster Respondents had actual knowledge of the Asserted Patents and their infringement thereof by way of pre-suit notice letters. Exhibits 47A-47E (Pre-suit Letters to the Gel Blaster Respondents).

89. On information and belief, the Gel Blaster Respondents have knowingly induced and continue to knowingly induce directly infringing acts by others with specific intent to encourage infringement. For example, the Gel Blaster Respondents actively induce customers' and/or end users' direct infringement by contracting with and/or encouraging customers and/or end users to use, offer to sell, sell, and import in the United States products that infringe the Asserted Patents. The Gel Blaster Respondents know, or should have known, that these induced acts directly infringe the Asserted Patents because of, for example, the infringement allegations and evidence provided in connection with this Complaint, and notice letters to the Gel Blaster Respondents.

90. The Gel Blaster Respondents also contribute to the foregoing infringement by customers and/or end users by offering to sell, selling, and importing in the United States the Accused Products that constitute a material part of the articles that practice the Asserted Patents. The Accused Products have no substantial non-infringing uses, are a material part of the invention of each Asserted Patents, are especially made or especially adapted for use in an infringement of such patent, and not a staple article or commodity of commerce suitable for substantial non-infringing use.

91. Furthermore, the Gel Blaster Respondents have actively induced and contributed to, and continue to actively induce and contribute to, the infringement of consumers and/or end users by creating and distributing technical, marketing, sales and product literature for the Accused Products, including materials that instruct customers and/or end users to assemble and use the Accused Products in a manner that directly infringes. 93. In addition, on information and belief, the Gel Blaster Respondents contributorily infringe certain of the Asserted Claims through their sale and offers to sell within the United States and/or importation into the United States components, such as spare parts (including and not limited to “fins,” “tips,” “hoppers,” “feednecks,” and “Gelllets”) of the Accused Products, that constitute a material part of the asserted claims, knowing the same to be especially made or especially adapted for use in an infringement of the Asserted Patents, and not a staple article or commodity of commerce suitable for substantial non-infringing use. Exhibits 63, 64. Due to the specific designs of the Accused Products, components thereof such as spare parts do not have any substantial non-infringing uses.

2. The Splat-R-Ball Respondents

94. On information and belief, the Splat-R-Ball Respondents contribute to and induce direct infringement by others, including their customers, such as retailers and end users under 35 U.S.C. § 271(b)-(c) without license or authority. The Splat-R-Ball Respondents induce and contribute to customers’ directly infringing acts, including those customers’ sales, use, and offers for sale of articles that are covered by the Asserted Patents. For example, on information and belief, retailers such as Bass Pro Shops, Cabela’s, Big 5 Sporting Goods, offer SplatRBall Accused Products (including the SplatRBall SRB1200 Full Auto Rechargeable Battery Powered Water Bead Gel Ball Blaster, SplatRBall Full and Semi Auto Electric Rechargeable Soft Water Bead Gel Ball Blaster, and SplatRBall Full Auto 375 Mini Water Bead Blaster) for sale in retail stores in the United States and on websites accessible from within the United States. 95. On information and belief, the SplatRBall Respondents had, and have, knowledge of the Asserted Patents. For example, the SplatRBall Respondents have knowledge of the Asserted Patents and their infringement thereof as a result of the filing and/or service of this Complaint. Additionally, before the filing of this Complaint, the SplatRBall Respondents had actual knowledge of the Asserted Patents and their infringement thereof by way of pre-suit notice letters. Exhibits 51A-51D (Pre-suit Letters to the SplatRBall Respondents).

96. On information and belief, the SplatRBall Respondents have knowingly induced and continue to knowingly induce direct infringing acts by others with specific intent to encourage infringement. For example, the SplatRBall Respondents actively induce customers' and/or end users' direct infringement by contracting with and/or encouraging customers and/or end users to offer to sell, sell, and import in the United States products that infringe the Asserted Patents. The SplatRBall Respondents know, or should have known, that these induced acts directly infringe the Asserted Patents because of, for example, the infringement allegations and evidence provided in connection with this Complaint, and notice letters to the SplatRBall Respondents.

97. The SplatRBall Respondents also contribute to the foregoing infringement by customers and/or end users by offering to sell, selling, and importing in the United States the Accused Products that constitute a material part of the articles that practice the Asserted Patents. The Accused Products have no substantial non-infringing uses, are a material part of the invention of each Asserted Patents, are especially made or especially adapted for use in an infringement of such patent, and not a staple article or commodity of commerce suitable for substantial non-infringing use.

98. Furthermore, the SplatRBall Respondents have actively induced and contributed to, and continue to actively induce and contribute to, the infringement of consumers and/or end users by creating and distributing technical, marketing, sales and product literature for the Accused Products, including materials that instruct customers and/or end users to assemble and use the Accused Products in a manner that directly infringes. For example, as shown in the exemplary product literature below, the SplatRBall Respondents instruct users to “[u]se Certified SPLAT-R-BALL™ ammo only” and also teach users how to incorporate that hydrated ammo into the blaster using the magazine:

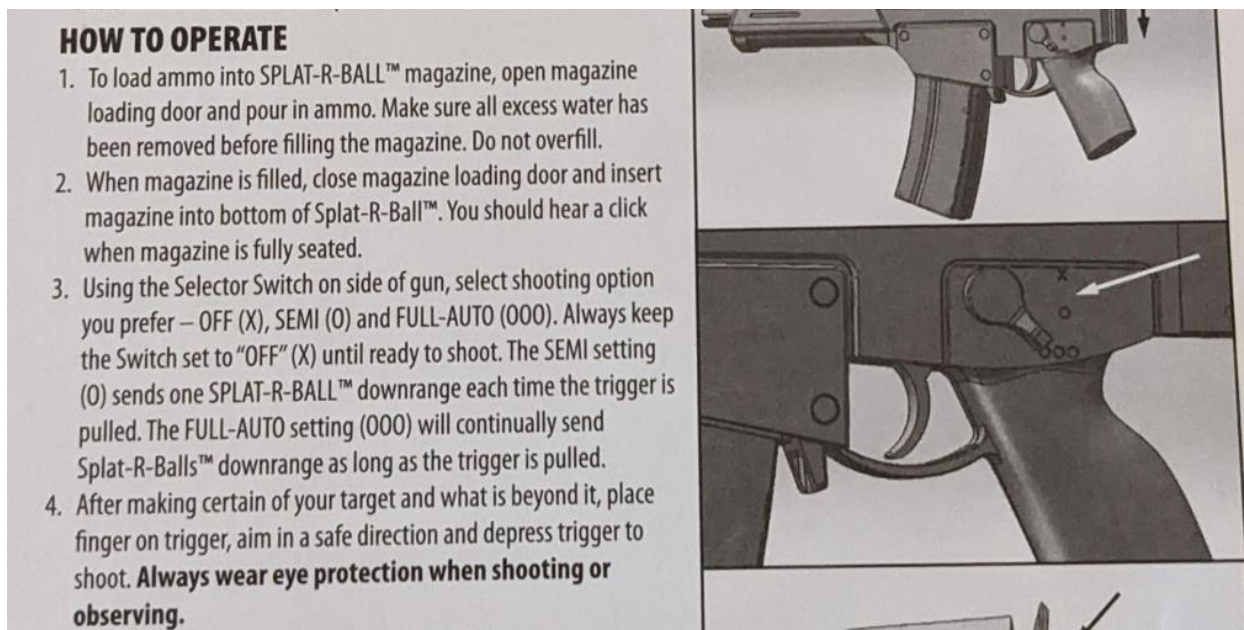

Exhibit 52 (Manual for the SplatRBall SRB1200); see also similar language in Exhibit 53 (Manual for the SplatRBall SRB400); Exhibit 54 (Manual for the SplatRBall SRB375M).

99. In addition, on information and belief, the SplatRBall Respondents contributorily infringe certain of the Asserted Claims through their sale and offers to sell within the United States and/or importation into the United States components, such as spare parts (including and not limited to “certified water bead Splat-R-Ball ammo,” “water blaster drum magazine 800 round,” “water blaster rechargeable battery,” “water blaster magazine 400 round,” “water blaster stock,” “water blaster activated targets,” and “water bead blaster sling”) of the Accused Products, that constitute a material part of the asserted claims, knowing the same to be especially made or especially adapted for use in an infringement of the Asserted Patents, and not a staple article or commodity of commerce suitable for substantial non-infringing use. Exhibit 67. Due to the specific designs of the Accused Products, components thereof such as spare parts do not have any substantial non-infringing uses.

3. The PTT Respondents

100. On information and belief, the PTT Respondents contribute to and induce direct infringement by others, including their customers, such as retailers and end-users under 35 U.S.C. § 271(b)-(c) without license or authority. The PTT Respondents induce and contribute to customers' directly infringing acts, including those customers' sales, use, and offers for sale of articles that are covered by the Asserted Patents. For example, on information and belief, retailers offer PTT Accused Products (including the Hydro Strike Pulsar Pro and Hydro Strike Nebula Pro Water Bead Blaster) for sale in retail stores in the United States and on websites accessible from within the United States. See Exhibit 55 (showing pricing information and directions as to how to purchase PTT Accused Products at <https://hydrostrike.primetimetoy.com/shop> and <https://hydrostrikegelblasters.com/shop>). 101. On information and belief, the PTT Respondents had, and have, knowledge of the Asserted Patents. For example, the PTT Respondents have knowledge of the Asserted Patents and their infringement thereof as a result of the filing and/or service of this Complaint. Additionally, before the filing of this Complaint, the PTT Respondents had actual knowledge of the Asserted Patents and their infringement thereof by way of pre-suit notice letters. Exhibits 60A-60C (Pre-suit Letters to the PTT Respondents).

102. On information and belief, the PTT Respondents have knowingly induced and continue to knowingly induce directly infringing acts by others with specific intent to encourage infringement. For example, the PTT Respondents actively induce customers' and/or end users' direct infringement by contracting with and/or encouraging customers and/or end users to offer to sell, sell, use, and import in the United States products that infringe the Asserted Patents. The PTT Respondents know, or should have known, that these induced acts directly infringe the Asserted Patents because of, for example, the infringement allegations and evidence provided in connection with this Complaint, and notice letters to the PTT Respondents.

103. The PTT Respondents also contributes to the foregoing infringement by customers and/or end users by offering to sell, selling, and importing in the United States the Accused Products that constitute a material part of the articles that practice the Asserted Patents. The Accused Products have no substantial non-infringing uses, are a material part of the invention of each Asserted Patents, are especially made or especially adapted for use in an infringement of such patent, and not a staple article or commodity of commerce suitable for substantial non-infringing use.

104. Furthermore, the PTT Respondents have actively induced and contributed to, and continue to actively induce and contribute to, the infringement of consumers and/or end users by creating and distributing technical, marketing, sales and product literature for the Accused Products, including materials that instruct customers and/or end users to assemble and use the Accused Products in a manner that directly infringes. For example, product literature distributed with the Hydro Strike Pulsar Pro teaches end-users to hydrate the beads for use within the device including the steps of hydrating Gel-Tek bead rounds in a hydration/storage container for four hours then inserting the rounds in the blaster.

Exhibit 61 (Manual for the Hydro Strike Pulsar Pro); see also Exhibit 62 (Manual for the Hydro Strike Nebula Pro).

105. In addition, on information and belief, the PTT Respondents contributorily infringe certain of the Asserted Claims through their sale and offers to sell within the United States and/or importation into the United States components, such as spare parts (including and not limited to the “Hydro Strike Pulsar Pro Rechargeable Battery Pack Refill,” the “Hydro Strike Pulsar Pro Gel Water Bead Gel-Tek Cartridge Refill,” and the “Hydro Strike Gel-Tek Gel Beads Refill Pack”), of the Accused Products, that constitute a material part of the asserted claims, knowing the same to be especially made or especially adapted for use in an infringement of the Asserted Patents, and not a staple article or commodity of commerce suitable for substantial non-infringing use. See, e.g., Exhibit 55. Due to the specific designs of the Accused Products, components thereof such as spare parts do not have any substantial non-infringing uses.

[REDACTED]

States: 9304.00.0000, 9503.00.0073 and 9503.00.0090. These HTS numbers are intended for illustration only and are not intended to be restrictive of the category of Accused Products.

VIII. RELATED LITIGATION

107. Pursuant to Commission Rule 210.12(a)(5), the Asserted Patents and the subject matter of this Complaint are not, nor have they been, the subject of any court or agency litigation.

IX. DOMESTIC INDUSTRY

108. As required by Section 337(a)(2) and defined by Section 337(a)(3), a domestic industry exists and/or is in the process of being established in the United States in connection with articles protected by the Asserted Patents.

A. Technical Prong

109. Claim charts demonstrating how Hasbro's representative products (the "Domestic Industry Products") are covered by an exemplary claim of each of the Asserted Patents are attached as Confidential Exhibits 9A-10B. As shown in these claim charts, the Domestic Industry Products are protected by the Asserted Patents.

B. Economic Prong

110. A domestic industry, under subparts (A), (B), and/or (C) of Section 337(a)(3), exists by virtue of Complainants' significant U.S. investment in plant and equipment, significant employment of U.S. labor and capital, and substantial investment in U.S. exploitation of the Asserted Patents, including through engineering, research and development, and other activities designed to exploit the patented technology.

111. For example, Complainant Hasbro has developed and is in the process of developing a NERF Pro GelFire blaster designed to launch spherical projectiles made of a hydrated superabsorbent polymer ("SAP") material, which practices the Asserted Patents. Exemplary U.S. investments are discussed in more detail in the Confidential Declaration of Adam Kleinman,

[REDACTED]

Senior Vice President at Hasbro, Inc. See Confidential Exhibit 6 (Kleinman Decl.). For example, Hasbro has undertaken efforts to develop a NERF Pro GelFire blaster that practices the Asserted Patents from its headquarters in Pawtucket, Rhode Island, where [REDACTED] have conducted activity related to [REDACTED]. Id.

[REDACTED] Hasbro plans for the NERF Pro GelFire Mythic Blaster to be available on shelves by November 2022. Id. In the course of the foregoing development efforts, Hasbro has made and continues to make significant U.S. investments in plant and equipment; significant employment of U.S. labor and capital; and/or substantial investment in U.S. exploitation of the Asserted Patents, including through engineering, research and development, and other activities designed to exploit the patented technology. See Confidential Exhibit 6 (Kleinman Decl.).

114. To the extent it is determined that a domestic industry does not yet exist with respect to the Asserted Patents, a domestic industry is in the process of being established pursuant to Section 337(a)(2). As noted above, Hasbro has taken tangible steps to establish an industry in the United States, and there is a significant likelihood that the industry requirement will be satisfied in the future, as discussed in more detail in the Confidential Declarations of Mr. Kleinman. See Confidential Exhibit 6 (Kleinman Decl.). Preorders of the NERF Pro GelFire Mythic Blaster began in July 2022 through Hasbro Pulse, Target, and Amazon. Id. Hasbro expects for the products to be available on shelves by November 2022. Id. [REDACTED]

X. LICENSEES

115. Pursuant to Commission Rule 210.12(a)(9)(iii), Complainants state that Hasbro, Inc. is the only licensee of each involved U.S. patent.

XI. REQUESTED EXCLUSION ORDERS

A. Limited Exclusion Order

116. Pursuant to Section 337(d), Complainants respectfully request that a limited exclusion order be entered barring from entry into the United States all soft projectile launching devices, components thereof, ammunition, and products containing same, that infringe one or more of the Asserted Claims of the Asserted Patents to remedy the Respondents' violation of Section 337 and to prevent such future violations by Respondents.

[REDACTED]

B. Cease and Desist Orders

117. Cease and desist orders against all named Respondents are appropriate under Section 337(f), which provides that the Commission may issue a cease and desist order against any person violating Section 337 in addition to exclusion orders issued under Section 337(d). Cease and desist orders are appropriate to remedy and prevent the violation of Complainants' patent rights due to Respondents' commercially significant inventory of soft projectile launching devices, components thereof, ammunition, and products containing same, as well as their significant domestic operations relating to the same.

XII. RELIEF REQUESTED

118. WHEREFORE, by reason of the foregoing, Complainants respectfully request that the United States International Trade Commission:

a. Institute an immediate investigation, pursuant to Section 337 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, 19 U.S.C. § 1337(a)(1)(B)(i) and (b)(1), with respect to violation of Section 337 by Respondents based upon their sale for importation, importation, and/or sale after importation into the United States of soft projectile launching devices, components thereof, ammunition, and products containing same that infringe one or more of the Asserted Claims of the Asserted Patents.

b. Schedule and conduct a hearing on said unlawful acts and, following said hearing, determine that there has been a violation of 19 U.S.C. § 1337;

c. Issue permanent limited exclusion orders, pursuant to 19 U.S.C. § 1337(d)(1), barring from entry into the United States all soft projectile launching devices, components thereof, ammunition, and products containing same, that infringe one or more of the Asserted Claims of the Asserted Patents.

d. Issue permanent cease and desist orders, pursuant to 19 U.S.C. § 1337(f), directing Respondents, and others acting on their behalf, to cease and desist from selling for importation into the United States, importing, selling after importation into the United States, offering for sale, marketing, advertising, demonstrating, sampling, warehousing inventory for distribution, selling, distributing, licensing, testing, providing technical support, use, or other related commercial activity involving imported products that infringe one or more of the Asserted Claims of the Asserted Patents; and

e. Impose a bond, pursuant to 19 U.S.C. § 1337(j), upon importation of any Accused Products during any presidential review;

f. Grant such other and further relief as the Commission deems just and proper based on the facts determined by the investigation and the authority of the Commission.
